No.49

22 Southampton Street, Bloomsbury, W.C., London. "Our contemplated trip to the Highlands was completely baffled in consequence of the cold, rainy dismal weather." Fanny (G.) Villard was glad to get back to London. W.L.G. describes the residence of Arthur F. Stoddard, a nephew of Arthur Tappan. Complains of the high cost of traveling. Met Andrew Paton in Glasgow, and was told that Catherine Paton was in poor health. Urges continuation of Miss Houghton's treatment. Cannot make definite plans concerning his European trip on account of H. Villard's father's illness. Fanny Villard will probably not return to Boston with him. He himself will come home sooner to save money. Sarah P. [redacted], Mary A. Estlin and Mrs. G. Thompson called on him.

To William Lloyd Garrison Jr.

.22 Southampton St., Bloomsbury, (London). Regrets that he was unable to make a tour of the Scottish Highlands. Heard William H. Channing preach in Kensington. Was accompanied by Mary A. Estlin. Disapproved of the church services. Had tea with Mrs. G. Thompson. "... I am now satisfied that she has not had justice done her in regard to home affairs." Cannot see how G. Thompson can make a living in either England or America. Caught cold at Glasgow. H. Villard has just reached London and wants to stay here for a week or ten days. A.L.s. 2 p. 8 1/4 x 5 1/4 in.

Signed "Father."

22 Southampton Street, Bloomsbury, (London). Expresses his appreciation of an address of the Ladies' Emancipation Society which Mrs. N. copied by hand. Was given "the freedom of the city" of Edinburgh by the Lord Provost. Plans visits to Birmingham, Bradford and Leeds. Has not yet made up his mind about going to Switzerland. "Mr. Villard is with us ..."
Doesn't know what to do about G. Thompson. Wishes to be remembered to the Wighams.

London. Considers Frankfort-on-the-Main more American "in the general appearance of the inhabitants and in the style of many of its residences" than other German cities. Lost two trunks in transit between Lucerne, Paris and London. Is to attend a reception to be given by a Committee of the National Freedmen's Aid Union. Mentions other meetings to be held in behalf of the freedmen. The Villards hesitate to return to America owing to the high cost of living and the lack of a satisfactory agreement between Horace White of the Chicago Tribune and H. Villard. F. W. Chesson could give no information concerning G. Thompson. Met Dr. H. I. Bowditch on the boat from Calais to Dover. W. Weston is to return to the U.S. with W.L.G., Dr. [redacted] Bowditch and others.

Says he would rather lecture himself than listen to Miss Field and thinks that she would rather lecture than listen to him. Says that lecturing doesn't pay well in England. Recounts his own experiences. Can't understand why she should resent his advising her to get married. Says she should devote herself too wholeheartedly to the idea of independence, so that she excludes the thought of marriage from her mind. Discusses a woman named W. Petrie. Says he is giving up his magazine. Dislikes Charles A. Faghter as an actor. Says he is coming to America to see her.

To Miss Field

6, Royal Avenue, Chelsea, S.W., (London). The writer acknowledges the receipt of a letter from Miss Field. Tells her to write directly to a Mr. Wood, who bought the opera about which Miss Field was inquiring. Says he has seen his letters published with a comment by Miss Field, and that this publication resulted in his receiving a letter from a former schoolmate whom he hadn't seen for forty years. Complains that his name was spelled wrong in the abovementioned publication.

(London). The writer, having no estate agent, has been occupied with much business. "I felt sure you would take great interest in the Louvain proceeding." Refers to the "colossal" statue of her late husband, Jean-Sylvain Van de Weyer, erected in front of the railway station in Louvain. (Charles) Geefs, "the successful competitor for the execution of the statue," is now making a reduction in bronze for the writer. The subscription for the statue "was raised entirely in Belgium among the people." Geefs is the foremost sculptor in Belgium. In conclusion, the writer treats of family affairs.

39, Montagu Square, (London). "No, -I don't care two pence for the Shakespeare Memorial, or Mr. Flower. If there be any one who does not want more memorials than have already been built! it is Shakespeare! Mr. Flower is a worthy old gent, -who wants to go down to posterity hanging on to some distant rag of the hindermost garment of the bard of Avon, but I don't want or care to support his views. £1000 and a site(?)!! Surely he can hang on to a rag without costing me five guineas?"

In truth it is all leather and prunella to me. I have not many guineas to spare, but I have I find so many mouths into which it can go, -mouths that want it, whereas neither Shakespeare nor Flower want anything."

(Merchant of Venice) at 2. or 2.15. I quite forgot today I have an engagement tomorrow afternoon. I can't go to the Aquarium. Under all circumstances I think too it would be better for me not to go to the first performance. You were better and more brisk this morning until you began with me when you got back a little to an affected drawl. Be crisp, now, be crisp."
